Dr John Wong
MBBS (Hons), FRACP
Gastroenterologist

Languages: English & Mandarin

No Gap Doctor. Telehealth available.

Dr Wong is a respected Gastroenterologist with a strong focus on high-quality colonoscopy and gastroscopy, endoscopic mucosal resection of large polyps, capsule endoscopy, and general gastroenterology. He is dedicated to reducing the incidence of bowel cancer through exceptional colonoscopy care and remains at the forefront of his field by embracing new technologies, including advancements in endoscopic procedures and artificial intelligence.

Graduating with honours, Dr Wong completed his Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery at the University of Western Australia in 2010. He has gained extensive experience across various clinical settings and has progressed through all levels of gastroenterology and hepatology, from internship to advanced training before being awarded Fellowship from the Royal Australasian College of Physicians in 2018.

His career has included roles in regional practices, state liver transplant centres, and facilities specialising in high-quality colonoscopy and polypectomy. This diverse experience has given him a profound understanding of the complex conditions patients can face. Patients value Dr Wong's personable manner, excellent listening skills, and dedication to their healthcare goals.

Dr Wong is a Senior Lecturer at the University of Queensland, where he supervises and instructs advanced trainees specialising in gastroenterology and endoscopic procedures. He also serves in a supervisory role on the conjoint committee for recognition and training in endoscopy.

Dr Wong is a no gap provider and offers telehealth services. He is available for consultations and the following procedures at Westside Private Hospital.

- Rapid & Direct Endoscopy (Open Access)
- Capsule Endoscopy
- Colonoscopy
